

Marcus Rust and Christian Grosch from Dresden take the audience on a musical journey. In their compositions and improvisations they wander through different genres like jazz, folk, African rhythms, Gregorian chant and other forms of expression and thus search for a new contemporary sound.